Monthly investment commentary: September

Equity markets remained strong through September. US equities out-performed, with the tech-heavy Nasdaq leading returns. The UK's FTSE All-Share was up by 1.9%. The Fund rose by 1.0%, while its benchmark DNsCI (XIC) rose by 2.7%. Within the benchmark, it was small growth stocks that performed best and so the Fund's value style was a headwind to relative performance.

Detractors included brewer and drinks distributor C&C Group. A trading update confirmed that the business is on track to achieve profits as guided but highlighted contingency on the "all-important" Christmas trading period. Wilmington is a large holding for the Fund and was slightly weaker following full year results that showed lacklustre organic growth amid pressures on US healthcare event attendance. Hilton Food Group fell sharply after downgrading profit guidance for the full year in response to input cost inflation within its seafood division.

Turning to the winners, Galliford Try again out-performed expectations as the business benefits from robust demand for its building and infrastructure services. This helped fund a 17% increase in the final dividend and a fresh £10m share buy-back. Jupiter Fund Management continued its significant share price recovery as the market digests the impact of July's acquisition of CCLA Investment Management. Two of the Fund's resource-exposed stocks performed strongly: Capital, the driller and mine-service provider, and Ecora Resources, the royalty company, both stand to benefit from higher prices for gold and other metals.

Data sources & calculations

All data supplied by Aberforth, except DnSCI (XIC) data (from Deutsche Numis/Paul Marsh and Elroy Dimson – London Business School) and FTSE data (from FTSE International Limited).

Performance returns are total returns after all expenses and assume reinvestment of dividends. Yield is based on the Fund's trailing 12 months' dividends (excluding Specials). Active share is a measure of how the Fund's portfolio differs from the DnSCI (XIC). Small companies are represented by the DnSCI (XIC). Large companies are represented by the FTAS.

Risk warnings

Capital may be at risk as the value of investments may go down as well as up and is not guaranteed; therefore investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Past performance is not a guide to future performance, nor a reliable indicator of future results or performance.

Investments in shares of smaller companies are generally considered to carry a higher degree of risk as the market for their shares may be less liquid than that for shares of larger companies, making shares of smaller companies more difficult to buy and sell.

The performance of shares of smaller companies may be more volatile than the shares of larger companies over short time periods; therefore investors should regard such investments as long term.

There can be no guarantee that the investment objective of the Fund will be achieved or provide the returns sought by the Fund.

An investment in the Fund is only suitable for investors who are capable of evaluating the merits and risks of such an investment and who have sufficient resources to be able to bear any losses which may arise from such an investment (which may be equal to the whole amount invested). Such an investment should be regarded as long term in nature and complementary to existing investments in a range of other financial assets and should not form a major part of an investment portfolio.

An investment trust is a public limited company, the shares of which are traded on the main market of the London Stock Exchange. Accordingly, the ability of shareholders to sell their shares will be dependent on the market price of the shares. The shares may trade at a discount or premium to their net asset value.

Investment trusts may borrow money in order to make further investments. This is known as gearing. The effect of gearing can enhance returns to shareholders in rising markets but will have the opposite effect on returns in falling markets.
